To Our Subscribers.

Our subscribers are especially notified that we employ no collectors. All sums due us must be paid to one of the proprietors of this Journal, or in any absence, to one of our agents. If you desire prompt credits, therefore,

X Please Renew.

Those of our subscribers who find a cross mark after their names are notified that their time expires with that number, and are earnestly requested to renew. We thank many of our friends for prompt renewals; and, so far as we have had to continue our paper, we will in all cases ship your paper when the time for which you subscriber expires. Therefore, please anticipate us to continue when due to add in supporting this institution. Our terms are absolutely indefinite.

Newspaper Laws.

We would call the special attention of post-masters and subscribers to the following synopsis of the newspaper laws:

A postmaster is required to give notice by letter returning a paper does not make him liable when a subscriber does not take his paper out of the office, and state reasons for its not being taken; and a neglect to do so makes the postmaster responsible to the public for the payment.

Any person who takes a paper from the postoffice, whether directed to his name or not, or whether he has a subscriber or not, is responsible for his pay.

If a person receives his paper disappointed, he can get all arrangements, or the publisher, or his agent, to send it until the payment is made.

If the subscriber orders his paper discontinued at a certain time, and the publisher continues to send it, the subscriber is bound to pay for it if he takes it from the postoffice. The law provides upon this, that nothing shall be done to the right of the subscriber to refuse to pay for what he takes.

The advertisement of the Kentucky Library Association appears in this issue. A full twelvemonth will certainly take place on the 1st of December next. Tickets are 50¢ at the National Bank of Stanford, to J. J. McRae, agent, and also at C. R. Chen's.

In answer to frequent enquiries we will say that we are not yet advised as to the day Barnum's Great Show will exhibit in Stanford, but we see it announced that it will be in Louisville on the 6th of November. Sold down your quarters and ladies, here, on that the necessary qualifications for admittance may be lacking.

MR. MARSH WILFORD

has again taken charge of the musical department both vocal and instrumental at Masonic College of our town. We wish this worthy College all success, and are certainly deserved a good class from the great improvement made in the musical talent of our town during the last session. Mrs. W. has but few equals at the piano and when touching the strings of her light guitar, accompanied by a voice so sweet and full of melody, you can but with rapture and wonder at gifts so extraordinary.

REED.

At his home six miles West of Somerset a few days since, John Dye of heart disease.

NEW HOME.

Our merchants are receiving large and well selected stocks of goods this fall.

ALERT.

NEW supply of Croquet sets received at W. H. Anderson's drug store.

PERSONAL.

A number of distinguished gentlemen from adjoining towns are attending our Circuit Court.

Judge Fox looks physically better than we have seen him for some time, and is getting through rapidly with theocket of the Circuit Court.

Judge Bullitt and Colonel W. R. Abbot, of Louisville, have been in attendance at our court this week.

Major M. H. Oester, our Resident Attorney for the Commonwealth, is on hand as usual, pressing the claims of the law in their life or the State's prison.

Hon Jas. S. Christian has been present at our court this week looking as young and beautiful. Just blossoming into womanhood, with so much of promise in the coming years. It seems she was too young to die, yet to beautifully pure for earth. She was one of those sweet persons who presented a charm to every circle, and her absence impressed her friends with a deep sense of loss. Accessible to all, both rich and poor, she was fully loved by all who knew her, while her tenderness and sympathy was lost upon us.

Mrs. Lizzie Goffe, reared an excellent son for Lord's day in the Methodist church.

Mr. S. C. Coffey, preached an excellent sermon for Lord's day in the Methodist church.

The new Methodist church in Springfield will be dedicated on the first day in November next. Bishop Kavanaugh will preach the dedication sermon.

A protest meeting is in progress at the First Baptist church in Louisville, conducted by Rev. Mr. Sherrill, the pastor, assisted by Jno. Cook of this place. Up to Tuesday night the protest meetings were reported.

A division of the Bible is to begin in New York at an early day, and the work is to be conducted in earnest. Able theologians and scholars have been engaged, and when they are through, it is believed the Bible will be still more improved. One argument used in favor of revision, is that great changes have taken place in the language since the time of King James, and that almost any construction can be put upon a great many passages.

Married.

On Tuesday evening the 18th inst., a wedding of the highest in this country, by Rev. Mr. L. Williams, of Lexington, to Mrs. Alice Brewster of Franklin county, to Mrs. Anna Sander of Lincoln.

We are reliably informed that a wedding will take place at Somerset on the 25th inst., between a popular young coal merchant of Bourbon county, and one of the accomplished ladies of Pulaski county. "Good-by sweethearts," is a sort of young Somersets are singing.

As the Clerk's offices in this place on Saturday the 19th, by Rev. S. S. McRae, M. S. Pendleton, of this county, to Miss Mary Clemons of Pulaski county.

If any of the married spectators on this occasion need "marry-h," we hope the bride and groom and other parties interested, will not reflect upon the more sensible part of the community.

At the residence of Fountaine Young, in this county, Wednesday the 23d, Mr. W. H. Pollard to Miss Patience Young, both of this county.

Voting by Ballot.

We publish on our first page this week, the law passed by the Kentucky Legislature at its last session, providing that all elections for members of Congress shall be by ballot. It is important that still should understand this matter, as any variations from the provisions, will invalidate an election.
